

SA Hits Back In Algeria

Strike, Terror Follow Signing Of Peace Pact

ALGIERS (AP)—A cease-fire ending the savage 7½ year Algerian nationalist rebellion went into effect at noon today. But the third force in the ordeal of Algeria, the European Secret Army, struck back with crippling general strikes and terrorist attacks.

Vowing to keep Algeria French, the secret army's call for a 24-hour strike halted all but essential services in Algiers and brought business to a standstill in Oran, Algeria's second largest city. The underground army warned the real fighting was just beginning.

Terrorist attacks erupted in Algiers despite reinforcements of French soldiers sent into the city. Gunfire and explosions rang through Oran, where AP correspondent Rodney Angove said no French troops were seen in the center of the city. Authorities gave no casualty figures.

Oran, a right-wing stronghold, had all communications cut with France by secret army saboteurs, Angove reported. He said all stores were closed as Europeans rallied to the secret army's strike call.

Air France and Air Algerie canceled all flights from France to Algeria because airport personnel in Algiers and Oran joined the general strike.

Fugitive ex-Gen. Raoul Salan, head of the secret army, ordered his European followers on a war footing Sunday even as President Charles de Gaulle was announcing the cease-fire agreement and urging Frenchmen and Moslems alike to forget their differences.

The secret army has called the cease-fire agreement betrayal, and its announced campaign to challenge De Gaulle's authority brought uneasiness among Algerian nationalists who signed the agreement with France at Evian.

"The cease-fire has not brought peace to Algeria," declared Algerian nationalist Premier Ben Youssef ben Khedda, whose group will share with France the main burden of ruling turbulent Algeria until a self-determination vote this summer charts the territory's future.

"There still are enemies of peace there," he said in Rome en route from Tunisia to Morocco. He referred to "groups whose interest it is to sabotage the peace."

Charge Man For Passing Information

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP)—A former U. S. Army nuclear weapons maintenance specialist was released from the U. S. Disciplinary Barracks today and taken to Topeka for arraignment on a charge of passing classified information to the Russians.

George John Gessner, 25, who completed 30 months of a year's term for desertion, walked out of the disciplinary barracks at 9 a. m., escorted by agents for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Wearing a brown, prison-made civilian suit, Gessner kept his manacled hands over his face as he walked to an automobile. In the car, he looked through his fingers at photographers but would not drop his hands.

Lt. Col. Norman J. Kinley, deputy commandant of the disciplinary barracks, said Gessner knew he was under investigation but did not know he was going to be charged.

As soon as the news broke Friday that the charge had been filed Gessner was placed under special protective custody, the colonel said.

"The men inside are basically patriots," he said. "They treat turncoats as outcasts. If they had known, they would have given Gessner a hard time."

Gessner will be arraigned before U. S. District Judge Arthur J. Stanley Jr., this afternoon.

The complaint alleges Gessner, a native of Homestead, Pa., communicated restricted data to a representative of the Soviet Union in Mexico City while he (Gessner) was stationed at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

Jackie Takes First Ride On Elephant

JAIPUR, India (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy, who loves to ride horses, had her first elephant ride today on an animal equipped with fake tusks.

Mrs. Kennedy rode about 50 yards in the courtyard of the old fortress of Amber atop a 500-foot rocky hill just outside this Rajasthan desert city. She passed up the usual tourist ride up the hairpin road from the bottom of the hill to the fort.

Sharing the ornately decorated howdah with her were her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, an Indian official and the Indian mahout.

The elephant was a 35-year-old female named Bibia. It had been fitted with tusks, an old tourist custom at the Amber fort, where visitors are always told the elephants are bulls.

About 200,000 persons cheered Mrs. Kennedy from the streets and balconies of Jaipur as she drove in an open, prewar automobile to the fort.

The elephant had been painted for the occasion and a special platform built on the roof of the fort so Mrs. Kennedy could step into the 15-foot-high howdah without difficulty.

Bells on the elephant jingled as the animal took the smiling First Lady twice around the courtyard. It was a colorful sight, Mrs. Kennedy wore a yellow silk dress. The howdah was elaborately decorated with gold and silver filigree and it rested on a red cloth over the elephant.

After the ride, Mrs. Kennedy walked down the steps from the platform and approached the animal. She gingerly stroked its painted trunk.

Officials closed the fort to tourists while Mrs. Kennedy was there. A crowd of about 1,000 villagers waited at the foot of the hill, and the First Lady's audience was made up mostly of several dozen newsmen and photographers.

Mrs. Kennedy flew to Jaipur Sunday from Udaipur, where she had been the guest of the Maharana of Udaipur. She told him at her departure her two-day stay in his northwest Indian capital had been "heavenly — like a dream."

Donate Blood For a Future Heart Operation

BOONVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Eighteen pints of blood were donated for the forthcoming heart operation on Kathy Marie Stevens, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Stevens Jr., of Boonville.

Kathy, who was born with a heart defect, will undergo surgery March 26 at Research Hospital in Kansas City.

Thirty friends and relatives from the Columbia, Fayette, Rocheport and Boonville areas drove to Lexington Friday night to give the blood. The blood of 18 was found acceptable and each gave a pint.

Lexington has the closest blood bank affiliated with the Kansas City hospital.

Earlier the Boonville bloodmobile also supplied 18 pints.

Patients were moved into new quarters on the other side of the center.

Guatemalan Situation Is Worsening

Forces Trying To Line Up Support To Back a Revolt

GUATEMALA (AP) — A decisive turn appeared imminent today in the week-long revolt against Guatemala's government as opposition leaders sought army support for a non-Communist front to replace embattled President Miguel Ydigoras.

Fearful the student-led uprising might lead to a Red coup, leaders of three major opposition parties tried to line up backing also from business, agricultural, educational and professional groups.

The government continued to broadcast claims it had the crisis under control, but a leading opposition figure told a reporter, "The situation is worsening by the minute."

"We believe the only way it can be saved is for Ydigoras to resign and be replaced by a civilian-military directorate which will hold free elections," he said.

The three parties which have formed an anti-Communist, anti-Ydigoras bloc are the National Liberation Movement, the Christian Democracy party and the Revolutionary party.

The attitude of the army is the key to the outcome of the crisis brought on when the students revolted last Tuesday.

Official radio broadcasts said the army is solidly behind the government and is ready to take strong steps to smash any further demonstrations.

At least 20 persons have been killed and more than 530 wounded since the revolt erupted in protest against alleged frauds in last December's elections which returned Ydigoras' Conservative party to power.

Civil Defense Test Sparks Flood of Calls

Civil Defense officials found their alert warning system somewhat improved in a siren test at 1:30 p. m. Sunday, but a number of dead areas are still indicated.

The testing of the warning system was conducted by the Sedalia-Pettis County Civil Defense Agency through the cooperation of local law enforcement agencies.

Civil Defense officials said it is apparent that Sedalians are not aware of the action they must take when an alarm is sounded.

The police and fire department telephones were swamped with calls concerning the siren sounding it was reported. Should the sirens be indicating an actual alert, this would cripple the services, which are badly needed, it was pointed out.

It was indicated that due to a lowering of the booster units, the siren system appeared to be improved and a study for improvements in dead areas would be made.

The Civil Defense agency has sought the cooperation of individuals who did not hear the siren test. These persons are asked to contact the agency by telephone at TA 7-0881.

Peronists In Some Areas Win Election

Fronzizi Orders Federal Control In Peron Bastions

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Arturo Fronzizi today ordered federal control in all provinces where Peronists won in Sunday's nationwide congressional and provincial elections.

The move enables Fronzizi to name governors for the provinces and in effect nullifies the effects of the balloting, which resulted in a Peronist landslide and a sharp setback to Fronzizi's government.

Latest unofficial returns showed that followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron won more than 30 seats in the national Congress and 10 governors' posts including that of Buenos Aires Province, which is second to the presidency in political power and prestige.

Fronzizi acted at about 5 a. m. after Argentina's armed forces chiefs met with Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo to consider whether to form a military junta to deal with the crisis.

The military chiefs called on Fronzizi to intervene and demanded the resignation of Vitolo, who had mapped the strategy of Sunday's election. Vitolo reportedly already had submitted his resignation, but government house sources said Fronzizi had not decided whether to accept it.

Jubilant Peronists hailed the outcome as a recall for their exiled leader, but there was doubt the military, which threw Peron into 1955, would permit his followers to regain control.

After the voting trend became clear, Fronzizi's ruling Intransigent Radical party issued a warning that the Peronist victory could cause chaos in Argentina.

Three Injured In Fortuna Car Accident

Automobile Hits Church as Driver Loses All Control

Three Versailles persons were injured, one critically, in a one-car accident on State Highway 5 in Fortuna about 7:55 p. m. Sunday. The automobile crashed into the Fortuna Baptist Church when the driver, identified as Mrs. Virginia Eleanor Huffman, 40, lost control of the machine.

Miss Eleanor Audrey Huffman, 18, daughter of the driver, is in a critical condition. The young woman suffered a fractured jaw, fracture of the back and possible injury to the spinal cord. The girl was paralyzed from the neck down. She was rushed by Kidwell ambulance to Research Hospital, Kansas City, after receiving emergency treatment at Bothwell Hospital.

Mrs. Huffman and a passenger in the car, Nobel Wesley Wilson, 27, were also brought to the Bothwell Hospital in the Richards ambulance from Tipton and Kidwell ambulance from Versailles. Mrs. Huffman suffered a severe laceration of the scalp, lacerations of both knees and shock.

Wilson suffered lacerations of his head, a fracture of the upper part of the left leg and a possible fracture of the left hip.

Mrs. Huffman and Wilson were treated by Dr. Thomas Hopkins and were admitted to the hospital, where they remain as patients. Hospital officials said Monday morning that Wilson's condition was improved, but no report on Mrs. Huffman was immediately available.

Admittance officials at Research Hospital in Kansas City said Miss Huffman's condition was only "fair." The hospital indicated the girl was still at a dangerous condition.

According to Trooper George H. Hamilton, California, the car apparently was being driven at a day.

Action Opens Prospect Of Breaking Deadlock

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today it was ready to negotiate with the United States and Britain on a nuclear test ban treaty. But it stood firm against allowing international inspection teams on its soil.

The action opened new prospects of East-West talks on the deadlocked issue, although it did not resolve any of the differences blocking a treaty. If agreement can be reached on a test ban pact, President Kennedy has announced he will cancel next month's scheduled start on a new series of U. S. atmospheric tests.

The Russian announcement was made by Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin at a news conference. His statement coincided with information from Western delegations that the United States and Britain have finally agreed on concessions to offer Russia in an effort to meet Soviet objections to international inspection.

The offer probably will be made Tuesday. It is understood that the Western powers would reduce the number of inspection trips which teams of international inspectors could make around the Soviet Union. Much Soviet territory also would be eliminated from any inspection at all.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home returned to Geneva from weekend consultations in London with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Allied diplomats said they believed Macmillan had been in touch with Kennedy on nailing down the concessions. Macmillan is said to be even more anxious than Kennedy to show that if the U. S. tests are held every possible effort was made to avoid them.

Zorin said the Soviet Union would like to negotiate here with the United States, Britain and France on a nuclear test ban. The great powers would form a subcommittee of the 17-nation disarmament conference.

Since France is boycotting the conference, Zorin said Russia was "also ready to continue negotiations" among the three powers.

US-Transported Troops Clear Out Red Area

TOURANE, South Viet Nam (AP)—Vietnamese troops flown in by U. S. Army helicopters have cleared a Communist-ridden valley in central Viet Nam but the bulk of the Communists apparently escaped, senior American advisers on the scene reported today.

The Americans said the Communists lost 30 killed, 17 wounded and 11 captured. This is a sizable force by the standards of fighting in this country, but far short of the victory the government had hoped for out of the hazardous operation. It was estimated up to two Red battalions escaped.

The government threw 1,500 men against the estimated 1,000 Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in the valley.

Cease-Fire Brings Joy To World

Joy Tempered By Refusal By ESA To Honor Terms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Algerian cease-fire today brought praise in the West, jubilation in the Arab world, relief among the neutrals—and a rush by the Communists to the leaders of the new Algeria.

The joy over the armistice in the bloody North African rebellion was tempered by refusal of the underground European secret army in Algeria to respect the peace accord. The terrorist organization promised to do all it could to sabotage the accord.

President Kennedy sounded the theme of the Western bloc by declaring, "The United States supports these efforts towards a mutually beneficial solution and welcomes the agreement."

Premier Khrushchev fired off a telegram to Premier Ben Youssef ben Khedda of the Algerian government in exile in Tunis to declare the Soviet Union's readiness to establish diplomatic relations with it.

Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, in Geneva for the disarmament conference, summed up the general neutralist reaction.

"We hope this is the beginning of real peace in Africa and will lead to an extension of national freedom everywhere. It shows that any sort of problem can be solved if there is a will on all sides to solve it," Menon said.

Jordan's Foreign Minister Hazem Muzeibah declared, "This is a moment of great rejoicing for every Arab."

United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser, at bitter odds with the French since the Suez invasion, said the Algerian cease-fire raises the possibility of a rapprochement between France and the Arabs.

Flash of Light May Be Clue To Plane Mystery

MANILA (AP)—A report of a mysterious flash of light in the sky increased suspicion today that the American chartered military transport plane which vanished five nights ago blew up and was possibly sabotaged.

U. S. officials said a "bright light strong enough to light" a ship's decks was sighted by a Liberian tanker in the western Pacific along the scheduled route of the missing Flying Tiger Super Constellation bound for South Viet Nam with 107 persons aboard.

A spokesman at rescue headquarters in Guam said, "With the search in its fourth day, more credence is given to the possibility that the tanker may have seen the missing aircraft explode in flight."

An official of the Flying Tiger line, which operated the plane, said if investigation reveals the plane blew up, it would strengthen previous suspicions of sabotage.

Frank B. Lynoff, executive vice president in charge of operations, said experts consider it impossible for a violent explosion to occur about its Super Constellation under normal conditions.

The tanker T. L. Linzen said it sighted the bright light in the sky early Friday morning—about 90 minutes after the plane made its last report.

The Super Constellation was last heard from about 10:30 p. m. Thursday, 270 miles west of Guam, and gave no hint of anything amiss.

City firemen answered two alarms Sunday where burning trash had touched off grass fires, but no damage was listed at either place.
The first was at 10:45 a.m. at the James R. Carter residence, 305 North Summit. Firemen extinguished the blaze before any damage resulted.
The latter was at 3:09 p.m. at 2100 West Broadway behind radio station KDRO. The blaze was out when firemen arrived.

Fire destroyed a warehouse building of MFA, located east of Masters Furniture Store near the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks in California, Saturday at 10 p.m. The building contained two tractors, a fertilizer spreader, a corn sheller and four bales of straw.
Charles Berry, manager of MFA in California, said no estimate has been made on the damage.

Apprehension Of Juveniles Solves Crime

The apprehension of two juvenile boys, one 13 years old and the other 14 years of age, has solved two recent break-ins at the Perry Music Store, 712 South Kentucky.

Latest of the two break-ins occurred Saturday night when the youths pried a padlock off a door on the south side of the building to gain entrance. Drawers and closets were emptied, police reported, and the contents were scattered on the floor both upstairs and downstairs. Police said a quantity of sheet music was also littered about the store. Items taken by the youths included $15 in postage stamps, a few hundred lead pencils, a stamp pad, some Linotype slugs and cuts, some lapel pins and trinkets.

Thursday night the pair pried open an upstairs window on the west side of the music firm and took a metronome valued at $15. Sunday's break-in was discovered about 2:27 p.m. by Mrs. Viola Eckles, manager of the firm, who summoned police. The juveniles were taken into custody later by Sgt. William Miller, Officer Lester Williams and Juvenile Officer Cecil Glenn. The youths admitted both break-ins to the officers, police reported. Officers said the missing items were all recovered and had been returned to the proprietors of the music store.

Juvenile Officer Glenn released the two youths to the custody of their parents pending further investigation, police stated. The youths' names were not released in accordance with a Missouri statute forbidding the release of the names of juveniles involved in such reports.

Ann Landers

Answers
Your

Dear Ann Landers: Four years ago my husband became attached to an attractive and lively student in his high school class. She was 35 years his junior. He was friendly with a great many students but this relationship was different. The other students often came to our home. This girl never did.

My husband died suddenly three weeks ago. It was my unpleasant duty to go to the school and remove the personal belongings from his desk. What I found left me dumfounded and heartbroken. In his appointment book he had recorded light hearted details of their meetings. They met almost daily for four years. She attended a local college after her high school graduation. I found snapshots of them picknicking, boating and fishing. There were no snapshots or photographs of me, or of his children — not even in his billfold.

I don't need advice, Ann — what I need is strength. I'm writing this letter as a warning to others who may be leading a double life. In heaven's name, don't leave any evidence around!

You never know what tomorrow may have in store for you.—NUMB

Dear Friend: While the evidence may be convincing, it is still circumstantial. There is an outside chance that your husband's relationship with this student was a neurotic but still innocent father-daughter attachment. Please give him the benefit of the doubt since he is not here to defend himself.

Dear Ann Landers: Please say something in your column about those hideous things called suspenders. My husband loves them, but I think they are the ugliest contraptions ever invented.

Last year I bought him two beautiful belts which are still in gift boxes. When I remind him he says, "I know. I see them every day."

Frequently we go to the homes of friends. If it's an informal party the men remove their coats and I die of embarrassment. A few other husbands wear suspenders and their wives don't like it either.

Don't you feel that a wife has the right to insist that her husband wear a belt if it means so much to her? I've considered throwing out his suspenders which would leave him no choice. Do I have you O. K.—BOBO BRUMMEL.

Dear Bobo: Don't toss out your husband's dearly beloved suspenders. If he dislikes belts he may choose to go without either and then you could be in for even greater embarrassment.

Most men decide on the basis of comfort—and this is one decision no woman can make for her man.

Men's fashion experts claim suspenders do a better job of keeping the trousers up. One expert told me point-blank that a meticulous dresser would never use a belt. Another said "I wear both."

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago I was engaged to marry a fine young man. He suffered a complete mental breakdown a few months before the wedding so we postponed everything.

We decided not to marry until we were both sure of his stability. He'd seem fine for a while, then he'd go into a sudden rage, accuse me of far-out things and become violent. Last week he phoned to say he never wanted to see me again and demanded that I return his diamond ring.

Is his shame and guilt responsible for his rejecting me? Is this known as "projection" or "transference"? His doctor will tell me nothing.

Please give me the information I need.—HAZEL.

Dear Hazel: I am not about to psychoanalyze your boy friend through the mail. My advice to you is return the ring (although it is legally yours) and stop playing doctor. If he has one psychiatrist taking care of him, that's plenty.

Fiscal Year Change At CC Center

The fantastic growth of the Crippled Children's Center located at the Bothwell Hospital was brought out by J. D. Walker, director, at the monthly meeting of the board of directors of this organization.

Dr. James C. Alexander, president of the board of directors, presided at the meeting, at which time it was voted to change the fiscal year from April 1 through March 31 to June 1 through May 31.

The president announced a new tape recorder has been donated to the center by Local 262, United Garment Workers of America, at a cost of $280. This recorder is used extensively in the speech therapy program.

William C. Hopkins, vice president of the board, told the group that the Crippled Children's Center has been nominated by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce and all of the service clubs for the annual $1000 Lane-Bryant award for the organization contributing the most to a community.

At the same time, Miss Virginia Flower, former president of the center and present board member, had been nominated by the same group as the person contributing the greatest amount of community service towards a non-profit organization such as the center. Hopkins related that an elaborate brochure had been compiled by his committee to send of New York along with the nominations. It is noted, the Crippled Children's Center had received an honorable mention for this award about three years ago.

Other board members attending the meeting were James E. Durrey, E. M. Stafford, Jr., Mrs. Abe Silverman, Lois Fricke, Mrs. Everett White, Miss Flower and John Ellison.

Teacher In New York

Sister Grace Delores Visiting Mother Here

Growing up in Sedalia as Winifred O'Donnell, Sister Grace Delores is here for a visit with her mother, Mrs. T. E. O'Donnell, 512 East Third, and will be here until March 26.

Sister Grace Delores attended St. Patrick's Grade School and her first year of high school at Smith-Cotton, then she went to Kansas City to enter St. Teresa Academy where she completed high school graduating in 1938. She then entered Mary Knoll to become a Sister and in 1944 was sent to Honolulu to teach in the Catholic schools there.

It was in 1953 that she returned home and visited for two weeks with her mother after which she went to the Mary Knoll Mother House in New York and later went back to Honolulu.

She will do the same this time, going from here to the Mother House in New York where she will be until middle of August and will then return to Honolulu.

Sister Grace Delores likes Honolulu and has enjoyed teaching there. She has taught in three schools and was principal in one for six years. At present she is teaching the eighth grade at St. Anthony's School there.

The children are very lovable, she said, and are of a mixture of races, with many orientals, Japanese and Chinese, and, of course, Hawaiians.

Mary Knoll has 145 sisters in Hawaii. There are five grade schools in Honolulu, she said, and three high schools. They also staff a Children's Home and a Social Service Office.

For a number of years another former Sedalia girl, Eleanor McGaw, who was Sister Margaret Mary of the St. Joseph Sisters, was, also in Hawaii, and a Sedalia

"No yearly 'spring break-up' headaches around here since we got our concrete streets!"

You won't find springtime potholes, ruts or washouts on modern concrete streets. No bruised tires or frazzled tempers. No patching crews blocking streets.

Rigid concrete spreads the traffic loads across the spongy, thawed ground beneath it. And a concrete street has the strength and thickness to keep "frost boils" from working through the pavement.

That's one good reason upkeep costs stay so low. You keep on saving money year after year with all-weather concrete streets.

WATER THE EASY WAY—County extension director Merle Vaughan examines an automatic stock waterer used for both hogs and cattle below a pond on the Earl Clevenger farm in Pettis County. It was one of the stops on the Friday cattle tour. The waterer is on a concrete base and is warmed with a gas heater. A portion of the storage tank is noticeable in the background. Two such waterers to date have used about $14 worth of gas between them. Clevenger said he could hear his calves going down to the waterer in late evening after they had eaten their fill of shelled corn at a self feeder. He has two such systems below ponds and his son, Harold, across the road also has one. Roy Shernaman of southwest of LaMonte was by the office recently and commented favorably on his heater and automatic waterer. Livestock specialists recommended that the water be available at all times and be warmed to a minimum of 45 degrees.

Carcass Show Is Feature For Beef Breeders' Meet

A unique program is in store for cattlemen who attend the Purebred Beef Breeders' Conference which includes a Carcass Steer Show, March 31, on the University of Missouri campus in Columbia.

Highlights will include the judging of the on-foot classes, comments by a packer buyer and a meat retailer, a veterinarian's report on a health program to increase calf crop percentage, and a discussion of the kind of cattle to breed.

This is the first year for the steer show and it's creating much interest, according to G. B. Thompson, of the animal husbandry department at the University. The top steers in the on-foot classes March 31 will be slaughtered and the carcasses exhibited at Livestock Day, April 13.

Family Life Group Meets With Mrs. Cox

The Whittier Parent and Family Life Study Group met Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Grant Cox, 1112 East 16th.

The lesson, "Must Children Bicker and Quarrel?" was given by Mrs. Bud Milster. She pointed out that all children do so at one time or another and even the Bible tells us that children in those days had their quarrels, too. A prescription cannot be given for handling individual situations, but parents should look for the reasons behind a child's behavior and try to understand him intelligently and with feeling.

The business meeting was presided over by the chairman, Mrs. Cecil Maples.

A game was played with prizes going to Mrs. Dale Downs, Mrs. Bud Milster, Mrs. Tom Gardner, Mrs. Myron Lindquist and Mrs. Walter Rozier.

A dessert luncheon was served by the hostess, and her co-hostess, Mrs. Richard Cole, from a table attractively decorated in the St. Patrick's theme.

The next meeting will be April 11, at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ed Worley, 635 East 18th.

Information on Missile

The extension directors from all the counties involved in the Whiteman missile complex were invited to a meeting at Whiteman Air Force Base last Tuesday. The people in charge gave every indication that they would do everything in their power to get and keep local folks concerned regarding the program.

They volunteered to come out to farm meetings to put on their entire program or any part of it that was desired. They have also promised to have handouts and fact sheets available in the near future.

They have had information programs on Channel 13 and Channel 6 TV and plan to have more of them. Newspaper publicity will also be available.

It was indicated that the laying of cables to the different "silos" would be started in about six months and would take approximately 18 months to complete. Construction on the "silos" themselves will start about April 1 and will take about 18 months to complete.

Some people have worried about any forms that they had signed to date. We were told that only a right of entry form had been signed so far. Signatures on easement forms will be requested later.

These cables will be run five feet in the ground under terraced fields or on fields where terraces might be built later. When easements are signed, if the farmer contemplates terracing later, he should indicate that on his easement form.

Between May and November it is anticipated that between 2,000 and 3,500 men will be working. On the rough labor about 80 per cent of this will be local while on the finishing part only about 20 per cent will be local labor.

As I said earlier we hope to have much more information in the near future.

Hog Pictures March 26

Robert (Bob) Curtiss and Lloyd Lewellen, balanced farming agent, will show color slides taken last fall on the hog tour through Illinois and Indiana. These slides cover pictures taken on 15 farms and nearly 2,000 miles of travel.

The meeting will be in the REA building on Monday night, March 26. It starts at 7:30 p.m. and everyone is invited.

Dynamometer at Greer's March 23

A dynamometer demonstration will be conducted at the John (Jack) Greer farm Friday, March 23. Starting time will be 1 p.m.

Two tractors will be tested. The horse power increase and fuel consumption will be observed before and after the tractors have been tuned up. Ed Constien, extension agricultural engineer, will be discussing the results of dynamometer testing and how to rate tractors from the Nebraska test.

The Greer farm is located a mile south and a half west of Longwood. However, most folks would be coming in from the south and Highway J. From Highway 65 (north) the route would be 2½ miles east on J, two miles north and a half west.

Leftwich Also to Exhibit Steer

We have mentioned that Lester Dittmer and Jack Smith would exhibit steers at the Beef Producers Short Course at Columbia on March 31. Another steer is being entered by Cloyd Leftwich of Heath Creek township. This is a crossbred steer that he raised and has fattened on the farm.

Top steers in the "on-foot" judging will be slaughtered at the university and the carcasses will be on display at Spring Livestock Day, April 13. The rest of the steers will go to the St. Louis market.

Beef Cattle Outlook

Some little time at the cattle tour was taken by the specialists to talk about the beef cattle outlook. Cattle numbers in the United

Fox Is Taking Peace Corps Applications

Men and women with farm backgrounds and 4-H or vocational training in agriculture are being requested through the Peace Corps by countries around the world. Volunteers may select the country where they prefer to serve, says Owen Fox, extension youth agent for Pettis County.

College graduates with degrees in agronomy, horticulture, agricultural economics, animal husbandry, agricultural engineering, vocational agriculture and home economics are also in demand in many countries particularly in Latin America.

Countries that have requested farmers and agricultural specialists include India, Malaya, North Borneo and Sarawak, Philippines, Thailand, trust territories in the South Pacific, El Salvador, Columbia, Bolivia, Brazil, Venezuela, Peru, Tunisia and the Ivory Coast.

The Peace Corps provides all expenses for men and women who are accepted for service. This includes transportation, housing, clothing, food, medical care, vacation and incidentals. Volunteers also receive $75 a month for each month with the Peace Corps or a total of $1,800 after two years' service.

All persons in Pettis County interested in serving abroad with the Peace Corps may contact Owen Fox at his office, 605 South Massachusetts, phone TAYlor 7-0591.

Also dried grain can be sold without elevator discounts.

The combine can start earlier in the morning and run later at night. Grain can be held until prices are higher than they are at harvest time. Shelled corn can be stored in tight bins and getting corn out early makes fall plowing possible.

Getting hay up as quickly after cutting as possible means more feed value and more feed. The chances of hay being rained on after it is cut are cut in half if drying equipment is used.

Crop Drying and Machinery Dealers

I have in hand some material Lloyd Lewellen brought back from a meeting of machinery dealers at Columbia recently. One of the agriculture engineers was telling the dealers that their salesmen should be able to talk hay and grain drying.

He listed these benefits: you don't have to wait until the crop is dry before you harvest it. This means less loss from storm damage, field shattering and insect damage.

Early harvest of corn means less picking losses and very often means getting the corn out before cold weather and snow sets in.

No Game for Amateurs

From two totally different quarters, men who make a specialty of studying communism are beginning to suggest that we have too many self-styled "experts" on the subject.

One is FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, whose credentials in this field hardly need emphasis. The other is Father John F. Cronin, assistant director of the National Catholic Welfare Conference's Department of Social Action, "Communism: Threat to Freedom," his second book in the field, is drawing deserved attention.

In the American Bar Assn. Journal, Hoover says:

"Today far too many self-styled experts on communism are plying the highways of America, giving erroneous and distorted information."

"This causes hysteria, false alarms, and misplaced apprehension by many of our citizens."

"We need enlightenment about communism, but this information must be factual, accurate, and not tailored to echo personal idiosyncracies."

Father Cronin, in his new book, likewise cautions Americans to be wary of the self-appointed specialists, including some whose credentials look pretty satisfactory at a hasty glance.

In this category he would place some former agents of the FBI itself, some former FBI informants, and certain persons who have had first-hand contact with Communists as either party members or victims.

Cronin argues that unless a former FBI man specialized in subversion, his agency experience does not qualify him as an expert. The value of one-time informants would be considerable, he suggests, only where they were placed close to top Red sources in years more recent than 1955. Things change fast.

As for defectors or victims, the measuring rod is much the same: The big questions are how up-to-date and accurate their information is. Like Hoover, Cronin thinks much of it old and misleading.

This is not the first time the FBI chief has spoken out on this matter. A year ago, in a message to law enforcement officers in the United States, he said Americans need to understand communism, but added:

"This cannot be achieved by dawdling at the spring of knowledge. It can only be accomplished by dipping deeply into thoughtful, reliable and authoritative sources of information."

Next time you see somebody get up and offer himself as an expert on communism, find out just how solid his background is, and how current his information.

And remember that you have some quite unassailable specialists standing, in effect, at your shoulder and advising such caution.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Rev. Hargis Confers in Washington

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Rev. Billy James Hargis, ultra leader of the ultra right wing, descended on the nation's capital this week for a big rally of ultras at the Washington Hotel. Arrangements for the meeting were cloaked in semi-mystery.

Congressman John Roussetot, the California John Birch, appeared to be acting as advance arranger for the ultra. When a caller asked him for a ticket, Roussetot countered:

"Are you a conservative?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"What do you think of the John Birch Society?" the congressman demanded.

"I don't agree with its criticism of Eisenhower."

"You sound like a liberal," concluded the congressman. "I don't think you can get a ticket."

From other sources, it was learned that approximately 1,000 right-wing organizations had been invited to send representatives to the Washington rally, and that Hargis and Roussetot are huddling in advance to chart future strategy for the right wing.

Hargis-Go-Round

Rev. Hargis is leader of the "Christian Crusade" and of "We the People," which together have a gross intake of around $1,000,000 a year, much of it from H. L. Hunt and other wealthy oilmen. Hargis travels in a streamlined, air-conditioned bus with two bedrooms, two baths. He helped author the Air Force training manual which informed U.S. troops that American churches are infiltrated with Communist Fellow Travelers.

According to Hargis, the brotherhood-of-man idea is "hogwash." He believes, along with most right-wingers, that the danger of communism is internal, and that to "root out communism you have to clean up liberalism in government and religion." Hargis wants to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren. According to the U.S. Senate committee on elections, Hargis was the author of "scurrilous and defamatory literature" attempting to smear Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver as Reds in the 1956 election. "It costs $75,000 a month just to open our doors down in Tulsa," says the Rev. Billy Hargis.

Hargis Needs $$$

A letter trimmed in deep black and entitled "In Memoriam," has been sent by Rev. Billy Hargis to all his supporters this week. He's mourning the death of five radio stations which have taken him off the air.

"With a sad heart I must write this letter to my friends to inform you of a great loss," he said. "Five of our most important radio stations canceled our daily broadcasts this

Guest Editorial

CAPE GIRARDEAU MISSOURIAN: By the title—A nationally famous defense lawyer said in a court the other day that there was "not a tittle" of evidence against his client. It was good to be assured that titles are still in oratorical vogue in courts of law.

Some persons had come to believe, almost, that these minute measures of evidence had been neglected perhaps out of deference to women jurors who might not understand.

The dictionary says the obvious thing. A title is nothing more than a particle, so that when not even one of them can be mustered as effective evidence against an accused chap then, under our system of justice, he should be as good as free. Perhaps a judge will yet reply to defense counsel along these lines:

"I congratulate you on your defense, but I must disagree with you. There is at least one tittle of evidence which does associate your client with this crime. In fact, there may be several titles. What about that tittle in which Mrs. Mossberry makes positive identification of your man as the one who went to a bank and demanded a withdrawal at the point of a nickel-plated revolver? Or would you call that a mere jot, rather than a legitimate tittle?"

"Then there's the signed confession tittle—do you consider this a tittle tendered under duress? Surely you realize that all these add up to a veritable tittle tangle of testimony."

Anyway, if gasoline comes in gallons, coffee by the pound and geese in gaggles, no one should object if evidence is still available in titles at the same old stand. There's not one to show that they aren't.

Encouraging Results

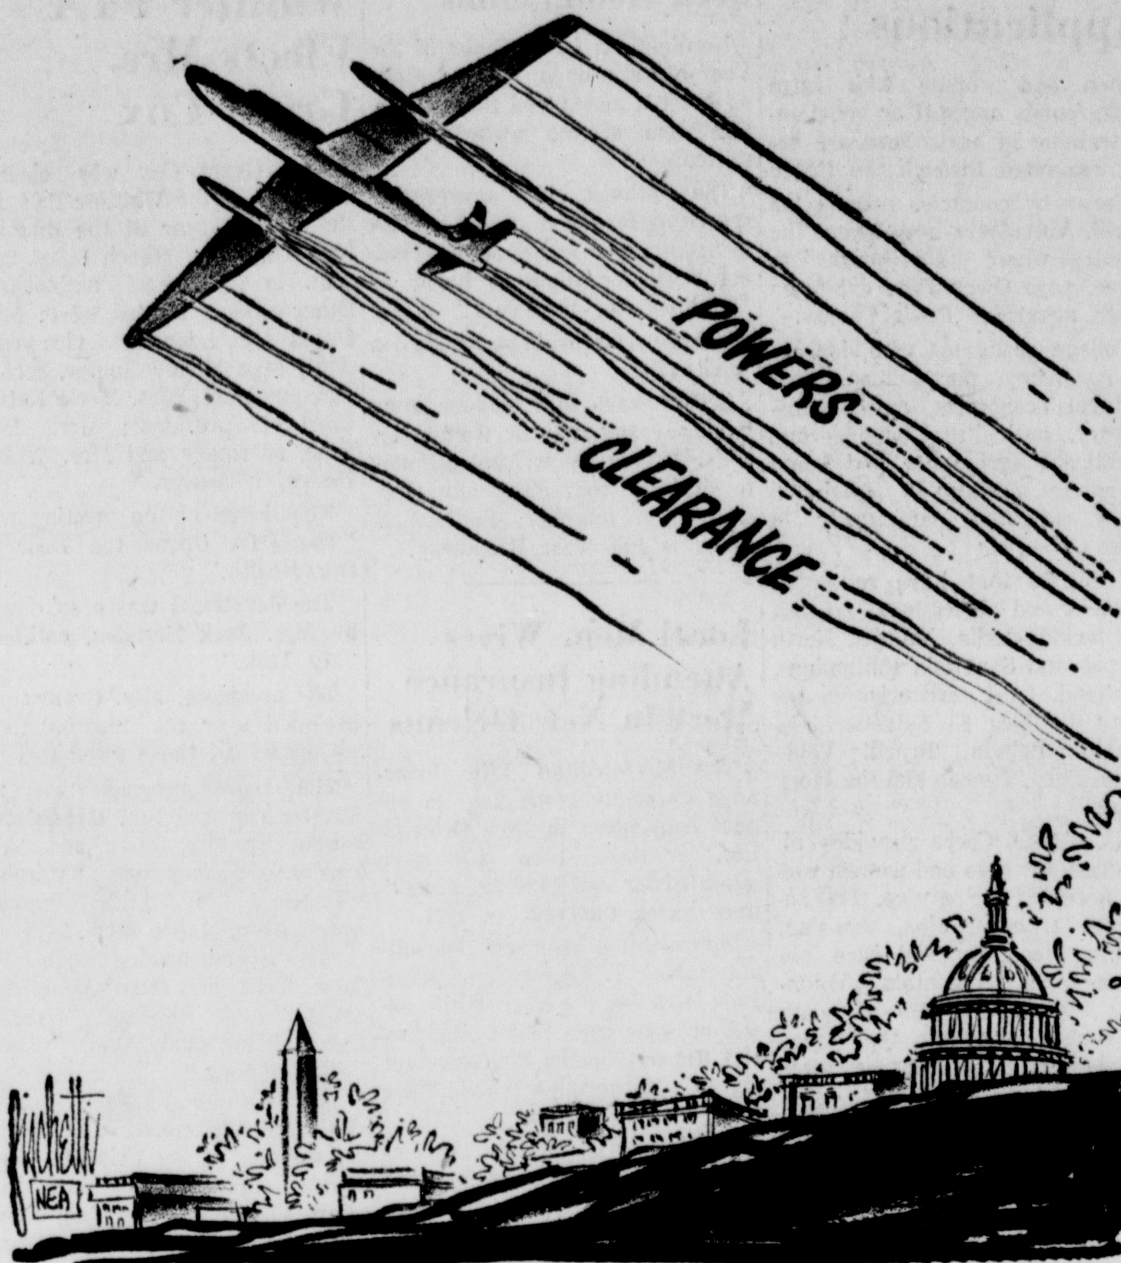

James B. Conant, scientist, educator, diplomat, has long been a crusader for better American schools. And, having studied the high school particularly, he says now he thinks conditions are looking up a little.

He surveyed two midwestern states and one in the East. In the latter, he found the average high school graduate completing 24 courses, some 14 in academic subjects. The totals in other states were less impressive, 20 and 18 respectively, but still encouraging.

Conant thinks every high school graduate should complete 18 academic courses, and no less than 20 altogether. He advises plenty of study in English, foreign language, mathematics, science and social studies.

It's good to have a prod like Conant around. For the good of U.S. education, let's hope the prodding is increasingly effective.

The World Today

Something For Everyone In JFK Plans

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's been something for everybody in President Kennedy's flood of proposals to Congress this year and the year is young.

He will probably feel lucky, even surprised, if Congress approves half of what he has asked. But he has asked so much, for so many different kinds of people, it can't fail to do him political good.

There's something for old people, city people, farm people, young people (children and students), Negroes, migrant workers, federal workers, untrained workers, the unemployed, doctors, dentists, communities, cities, states, business, industry, colleges and, under one big tent, the whole works: consumers.

In his State of the Union message on Jan. 11, he outlined at least 41 proposals. He has expanded on them, and then some, in 15 follow-up messages to Congress so far.

They are too broad and too many to be totally achieved this year but they will make a wonderful talking point for the rest of his tenure.

Because they have such built-in appeal in all directions he can win or lose on them, always point to what his administration got or tried to get.

They would be even more impressive if now, unlike last year, Kennedy fought for all of them instead of just some.

But he is dealing with a Congress which, run by Democrats far outnumbering Republicans, is dominated by enough conservatives of both parties to frustrate him.

There are enough Democrats in House and Senate to ram his programs through, if they stuck together. But they don't. Yet this is election year for a new Congress.

So, unless this Congress puts over a majority of his requests, it will be embarrassing and unconvincing at election time when Kennedy asks voters to send even more Democrats to Congress.

Some of Kennedy's programs, by accident or design, are politically shrewd since they throw bones of special interest to groups or individuals who otherwise would have no hesitancy in opposing him.

Critics of the so-called welfare state and of centralized government may complain his programs would greatly widen the government's responsibility for the general welfare. Indeed, they would.

But acceptance of this role of government has been a consistent and developing part of American history for almost 30 years under three former presidents.

Kennedy can remind his critics that Congress itself, in the Employment Act of 1946, belatedly but flatly said the government has responsibility for the general welfare.

So this long ago ceased to be a problem of principle. All that's left is the problem of degree.

Kennedy can argue he has asked what he thinks necessary—socially, economically, and militarily—to keep the nation afloat in the rip-tide of the modern world.

Still Independent

Finland is one of four former Czarist provinces to be established as Baltic republics after World War I and the only one still independent. Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania have been reabsorbed into the Soviet Union.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

John Harry Brunkhorst, of Sedalia, has been commissioned a first lieutenant in the army's engineers reserve, according to a dispatch from Washington, D. C. He is superintendent of the M.K.T. shops in Sedalia and is a member of the Maintenance of Equipment Co., 606 Engineer Battalion.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Major W. F. Logan, of the Second Battalion, 128th Field Artillery, Missouri National Guard, received a telephone message from Adjutant General W. A. Raupp, of Jefferson City, informing him that the local companies which have quarters on the Missouri State Fair grounds had been ordered off by the Missouri State Fair board and the grounds must be vacated by April 20 at which time the contract with the State Fair board for the use of the grounds expires. The Fair board explained action was taken because of the wear and tear on buildings and premises by the Guard's horses and equipment.

Mink coats, tail fins and diamonds may be symbols of position in today's society, but under the social regime of the Chinese Empire fingernails were a status symbol. Members of the aristocracy, people who did not have to work with their hands, wore their nails several inches long and covered with gold cases.

THE TWELVE TABLES OF LAW FOR ALL TO READ

At the same time that Greece was developing her civilization, Latin tribes settling on the seven hills of Rome were laying the foundation for the ancient world's greatest empire.

Like Greece, Rome began with kings and slowly moved toward democracy. But while the Greeks suspected all politicians, the Romans, with their tradition of the father as absolute ruler of the family, admired strong authority and were too content with only the outward forms of democracy.

In 510 B.C., Rome replaced her kings with two consuls elected annually from the patrician class, or ancient nobility. In 494 B.C., a peaceful revolt by plebeians, or commoners, in the army, led to the setting up of tribunes. These officials were given a veto power over the consuls, patrician magistrates and senate (composed of former magistrates). Plebeian agitation also led to the writing down of the laws in 12 tablets, which were placed in the Forum. The "Law of the Twelve Tablets" formed Rome's basic law for several hundred years. Finally, laws passed by the plebeian council were made binding on all citizens.

In spite of these steps toward democratic government, the patricians never relinquished actual power. Rome's constant preoccupation with war, as she expanded throughout Italy, then Gaul, Spain and Greece, kept soldiers away from home for years while landowners and aristocracy grew rich with slave labor and booty. In the middle of the 2nd century B.C.,

by Don Oakley and John Lane

DEATH OF TIBERIUS GRACCHUS, THE PEOPLE'S TRIBUNE

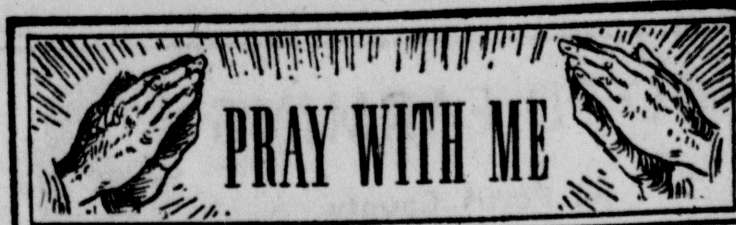

two patrician brothers arose to defend the vanishing middle class. They were Tiberius and Gaius Gracchus, known to history as "the Gracchi."

Elected tribune, Tiberius attempted to break up the great estates and protect the small farmer. He was beaten to death in a riot between his followers and the patricians. Some years later, Gaius returned from soldiering to carry on the struggle and was hated as a revolutionary by his own patrician class. He, too, finally met a violent death.

What democracy Rome had attained lasted a few more generations. Then came civil war and the first Caesar stepped in.

Cold Does Not Spawn Colds, New Tests Show

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Despite conclusive proof that the common cold and related upper respiratory infections are caused by viruses, the belief continues to prevail that the cause is exposure to low temperatures or to drafts or both.

It is often the custom to overdress and overbundle children so that, on going outdoors, they are scarcely able to waddle, much less exercise. What little sunshine there is exerts its beneficial effects on no more than a few square inches of face.

All this does not protect against respiratory infection and, by weakening their defense mechanisms, it may even increase their liability to virus invasion.

Recent studies made on our troops stationed in Alaska and Greenland are of interest. Although I'll confess I'm delighted I was not one of those tested, measurements of shivering, oxygen consumption and skin and rectal temperatures were made after exposure of nude subjects to a predetermined degree of cold. After 52 days of winter maneuvers in Alaska and 43 days in Greenland, the tests were repeated to determine how the men fared under these trying climatic conditions.

Except for the shivering response, none of the other factors tested showed any significant effect, but shivering was reduced 50 per cent in the Alaskan subjects and 80 per cent in the Greenlanders.

No one, so far as reported, developed a cold or any other respiratory infection as a result of testing. Even the most ardent supporter of the cold theory for colds must admit that standing nude in an arctic winter ought to bring on a cold if cold alone can do it. As to the reduction in the shivering response, I can only regard that as a positive accomplishment, indicative of an improved reaction to climatic conditions of such severity that I shiver just thinking about them.

None of this, I'm sure, will prevent mothers from swathing their youngsters in layers and layers of woollens, covered over with sweaters and coats, and topped off by mufflers and caps with earflaps and brims that extend over the eyebrows.

Strike Slated Against Two Major Airlines

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Flight Engineers Union has announced plans to strike two airlines this week—Trans World Airlines on Wednesday and Pan American World Airways on Friday.

TWA responded by saying it does not expect a strike. Pan American said it would operate normally by using supervisory personnel.

A union spokesman said the strikes would halt almost all foreign flights of the two lines. The strikes would be aimed at Pan American's international operations while both foreign and domestic TWA flights would be affected, he added.

The engineers' contract with Pan American expired 21 months ago; the one with TWA eight months ago.

Makeup of cockpit crews is a key issue. The Federal Aviation Agency has authorized a reduction of cockpit crews in jet airliners from four to three.

Presently they carry three pilots and an engineer and the dispute centers on who should be eliminated.

Longest-lived signer of the Declaration of Independence was Charles Carroll of Carrollton, who lived until 1832, dying at the age of 95.

Jewel Thieves Leave Owner Bound, Gagged

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Harry J. Bernat, 67-year-old jeweler, was bound and gagged in his fourth-floor office Saturday by two bandits who escaped with jewelry valued at $10,000 to $25,000.

Bernat was released by Mrs. Florence Woods who operates a beauty parlor on the same floor, after Bernat dislodged the gag from his mouth and shouted for help.

Three Military Prisoners Walk Away In Night

FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP)—Three prisoners in the U.S. Disciplinary Barracks at Fort Leavenworth walked away Sunday night.

They were members of a parole unit and were not behind bars. All three were due to be released this year.

A spokesman for the barracks said they were:

Thomas M. Unrein, 19, of Kansas City, Mo., serving 2½ years for being absent without leave, escape and desertion.

William J. Reagan, 18, Mason-town, Pa., serving one year for assault with attempt to rob.

Carry W. Fluharty, 20, of Rayland, Ohio, serving two years for robbery and conspiracy.

Unrein and Fluharty are Army men, Reagan is in the Air Force.
